HARRITY'S LETTER AND THE CABINET

Two Subjects of Interesting Private Discussion Among Congressmen—Divergent Opinions—Ex-Speak'er Reed's Little Joke.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The open discussions in congress yesterday were not half so interesting as the private discussion of the Harrity silver letter and the completed cabinet of the next administration. The two subjects were interwoven in conversation and many of the views expressed were exceedingly forcible.

Speaking of the Harrity letter, Senator Harney of Tennessee, said: "I for one will never consent to the repeal of the Sherman law without the substitution of something in its place that recognizes the use of silver as money."

Senator Pugh of Alabama, who was the author of the bill, and the popular Senator of Alabama in the recent election, in a short address, endorsed the aims of the convention.

Henry Jones, of Atlanta, Ga., declared that the state had a larger following in this convention than it would have in the next. He said that he was constrained to believe that the ruling motive for Mr. Herbert's appointment was the courage he displayed in being the only member from Alabama who voted against 95 percent of his constituents on the free coinage of silver.

Mr. Herbert, in the only defense of his action, said: "I am a man who agrees with the enemies of free coinage."

There is not a man in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet from the south or west who represents his state or the democratic party on the silver question. If it is Mr. Cleveland's purpose, in making his cabinet a unit against 90 percent of the people, to disrupt or mislead the convention, he is failing in his purpose.

"The 'silverites,'" said Mr. Puffer, "regard Mr. Cleveland as in sympathy with the legislation that favored the hampered classes, notwithstanding his commitment to the doctrine of tariff reform, which is understood to be intended to correct the evils in that direction."

There are three members of the cabinet given to New England and New York, all men of eastern type; three men from the south, who were Democrats before they were anything else, and only two whom we can call western by reason of their location, and only one of these who is independent of party influences—I refer to Mr. Cleveland. Summing up the whole, we find that, excepting the one who agrees with the enemies of free coinage, there is not a man in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet from the south or west who represents his state or the democratic party on the silver question. If it is Mr. Cleveland's purpose, in making his cabinet a unit against 90 percent of his constituents, to disrupt or mislead the convention, he is failing in his purpose.

FRIDAY EVE., FEB. 24, 1893.

It was Robert L. Walker who ruined McKinley in 1888, and it was Robert J. Walker who deceived and ruined the people in 1892. They are a bad pair of Robert Walkers.

CHESTERLAND, having failed to control the Democrats in the present congress and direct them according to his notions on the silver question, the national Democratic committee has undertaken the job of directing the Democrats in the next congress along the silver line.

A lot cabin in minnows was placed on the desk of William Lindsay, United States senator from Kentucky to annoy Carlisle, when he wanted the senate. This was very appropriate and suggestive, for if there is any one thing that the Democratic party is disposed to travel in the direction of more than another it is backward toward the days of the log cabin.

A sum of old-fashioned Confederate cents was being made, at his own request, for Senator Blackwell, of Kentucky, to be worn at Cleveland's inauguration.

The Mississippi woolen mills are manufacturing a special piece of jeans from which the suit will be made, regardless of cost. The senator ought to carry a Confederate flag to distinguish his togs. Everybody is expected to forget the war except those who brought it upon the people.

The declaration of Senator Voorhees, that President Harrison's foreign policy has passed into history and challenge the admiration of the world, is one of the highest compliments ever paid to an outgoing President, and it ought to serve as a notice to the "small fry" and professional politicians who have been hounding the President, that he will live in history long after they are forgotten, no matter to what office they may, in the future, give the full measure of their abilities.

Gen. A. N. Dumbauld, who died a few weeks ago, was the last of the famous Union garrison that defended Sumter against the attack of the Confederates April 12, 1861, directed by Gen. Beauregard, who was buried to-day. General A. N. Dumbauld's casket was draped with the American flag, while that of Beauregard was draped with the American flag and the Confederate flag. The former was loyal to one flag, while the latter in his death is advertised as being loyal to two flags, which represent principles the direct opposite of each other.

CONGRATULATIONS, Poor, of the Tuscarawas district of this state, writes to the American Economist that the real test of the protective system before the people of the United States has yet to come. To dependence and trifling means nothing, even if such a course procure apparent approval. The supreme test will remain and will come when the Democratic talk stops and action begins, when free trade theories are written in revenue laws. The effect upon the industries of the country, Gen. Post well observes, will be the test. The friends of American industries will carefully note and make known the effect of the change of policy, being willing that the test shall be made but determined that the responsibility shall fall where it belongs.

There are some people who would rather see a public man in trouble than his prosperity. The class of people are getting some very smart things at the expense of Major McKinley, now that he has suffered a misfortune. They are saying that he trusted too much to the possibilities of the tax industry and was caught. The only foundation for these suggestions is the fact that his friend Walker, who was a banker, had some stock in a stamping works, which has no relation to the mill where it is manufactured. The stamping works did not injure Walker, and Walker's failure has not injured the stamping works. Walker betrayed the confidence McKinley had in him. The applications these ghouls are making of the tariff on imports to the unfortunate circumstances confronting McKinley, are as irrelevant as it would be to undertake to assume that the conduct of the Walker who formulated the free trade tariff of 1842, which brought ruin to the country, after he had promised the voters of the country that they would not disturb the tariff of 1842. Both these Walkers betrayed the confidence reposed in them.

THE SPRING ELECTIONS. The time for the spring elections in this county is fast approaching and the nearer we come to them the more apparent it becomes that the Democratic leaders have determined upon making every possible effort to carry both the townships and the city. In view of the fact that these same Democratic year after year have been advancing non-partisan tickets it becomes very plain that the position they then assumed was purely an expedient calculated in their judgment to strengthen the Democratic party with the view of ultimately succeeding to power as Democrats. The Republicans have from time to time warned the Republicans of this danger and counseled them not to permit themselves to be deceived by these plays.

Encouraged by their success at the polls last fall these Democratic leaders have decided that this is the time to strike for control of the township and city offices with a view of turning the county to that by the time they could, with Democratic offices in the city, void in the city. Should they gain control of the city they then formerly modest non-partisans would build up a spin-off organization upon the Tammany plan that would be hard to overthrow. It is easier to defeat the plan at the polls the spring than it would be to defeat the organization after it had once been formed. In view of these facts the duty of Republicans is plain and calls for their best efforts and their best judgment. The Democrats expect to succeed in the spring elections by the same methods which served the Democrats so well in the state last fall. They expect to appeal to every prejudice that offers as an opportunity for success, just as they did last fall, and already their enemies are invading and fanning every inch of territory that promises any harvest bountiful enough to prop up. They have already gone so far as to take representatives of the fields they are working to Springfield, where they have been given promises by the Democratic governors that in case the spring elections result favorably to the Democratic party, he will bring about certain things that do—things that will never be kept because they cannot be, until the situation is changed. In the end and in many other ways they expect to prey upon the ignorance and prejudices of voters to gain control. That these designs are being practiced upon the unsuspecting there is not a shadow of doubt and Republicans will have to meet this hypothetical sort of campaigning by impression upon those who left in the hands of these people, will be deceived and used as tools to pull Democratic chicanery out of the fire, and after having been used will be kicked aside just as the Democratic party leaders after using them are now kicking aside those who have the free courage of silver and the anti-option bill and the bill to protect the lives and limbs of railway employees. Every Republican in this township should put on his fighting garments, go to work and defeat these designing politicians who are hoping to succeed by fooling other people.

ARCADE FLOUR

We are informed that a few families in the city are not using Arcade Flour. On account of the extraordinary low price at which it is sold they think it a low grade. We concede that it is natural that they cannot understand how we can sell a very much higher grade of flour for less money than they pay for a lower grade. We do not undertake to explain how we do it. We do it—and have been doing it for the last twelve months. To any consumer of flour in this city who thinks this is wind we make the following offer: Come to our place of business, name to us any of the leading brands of flour that have been sold in this city during the last twelve months, and we will send out to some grocery store and purchase a sack of the flour named. The party naming it can go into our basement and pick out any sack of Arcade No. 1 in the basement; take a sample from each sack, smooth the samples down, remove the edges, bring them together, wet the surfaces with pure soft water, dry for two hours, and if Arcade flour doesn't show up whiter than the other we will present to the Anna B. Millikin Home 25 barrels of the other man's flour. If Arcade shows up the whiter then the other fellow shall purchase 25 barrels of Arcade No. 1 and present it to the Home. This offer is not confined to actual consumers but is open to dealers or any one else.

+Arcade Flour No. 1,+
Guaranteed Higher Grade than any other Flour sold in Decatur,

50 LB. SACK,..... $1.05
NO. 2 50 POUND SACK,..... 95c

Why was it that during the last twelve months the Arcade received and disposed of more full car loads of merchandise than all the other exclusively retail dry goods, grocery, clothing, boots and shoes, and every other exclusively retail houses of every kind, name and description? Simply because we gave the public better value for its money than any other house. This business was commenced on a basis that we knew it was impossible for any house in Decatur to meet our prices and not lose money, and any house in Decatur that undertakes to follow our prices and keep it up for twelve months, if they do much business, will either be "busted" at the end of the twelve months or will have dropped a big wad of money and consumed a vast quantity of liver during the year.

A Big Stir Among the Members of the Majority.

HARRITY'S LETTER AND THE CABINET

Two Subjects of Interesting Private Discussion Among Congressmen—Divergent Opinions—Ex-Speaker Reed's Little Joke.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The open discussion in congress yesterday was not half so interesting as the private discussion of the Harrity silver letter and the completed cabinet of the next administration. The two subjects were interwoven in conversation and many of the views expressed were exceedingly forcible.

Speaking of the Harrity letter, Senator of Tennessee said: "Of course we will never consent to the repeal of the Sherman law without the substitution of something in its place that recognizes the use of silver as money."

Senator Pugh, of Alabama, made the following caustic comment on the appointment of Mr. Herbert and Mr. Cleveland's purpose in making it: "I am constrained to believe that the ruling motive for Mr. Herbert's appointment was the courage he displayed in being the only member from Alabama who voted against 95 per cent of his constituents on the free coinage of silver. Mr. Herbert is the only member of the House who has voted in favor of the coinage of silver with the enemies of free coinage. There is not a man in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet from the south or west who represents his state or the democratic party on the silver question. If it is Mr. Cleveland's purpose, in mucking his cabinet a nut against 90 per cent of his party, to disrupt or minister into the service of the money bags, he is doomed to the most signal failure."

"The populists," said Mr. Poffe, "regard Mr. Cleveland as in sympathy with the legislation that fettered the hampored classes, notwithstanding his commitment to the doctrine of tariff reform, which is understood to be intended to correct the evils in that direction."

"There are three members of the cabinet given to New England and New York, all men of eastern type, three men from the south, who were democrats before they were anything else, and only two whom we can call western by reason of their location, and only one of these who is independent of party influences—I refer to Judge Gresham. Summing up the whole cabinet, I regard it as constructed specially to perpetuate existing conditions, against which the populists propose to wage war to the end." The letter is signed on the half side the silver and artfully so, to keep it entirely opposite name of the Harrity letter.

Representative Bland, the leader of the free-silver democrats, said: "It is an unprecedented proceeding and every member of the house who has the least spark of manhood or self-respect will simply tell the members of that committee that it is none of their business."

Representative Andrews, of Massachusetts, said, "The democratic party is pledged to repeal the Sherman act and it is simply a desic to know how members stand on that point. I do not regard it as an order, but as an order, to get an amendment. It is a matter of great interest. The repeal of the law is demanded by the entire business community, irrespective of politics."

Representative Hatch, of Missouri, said: "I am a democrat without one iota of the national committee, and have led to a codicil on the diplomatic and consular bill was the amendment authorizing the president of the United States to direct the secretary of state to call a special and judicial appropriation bill which appropriates about $22,000,000, was taken up and considered until the limit of adjournment, all the time the committee was in session, and was agreed to except a few reserved upon which there was no action."

There was no discussion at all on the bill, and it was voted down. The bill which had led to a codicil on the diplomatic and consular bill was the amendment authorizing the president of the United States to direct the secretary of state to call a special and judicial appropriation bill which appropriates about $22,000,000, was taken up and considered until the limit of adjournment, all the time the committee was in session, and was agreed to except a few reserved upon which there was no action."

Representative Outhouse, of Ohio, said: "I think it an eminently proper thing for a national committee to come to a final and unanimous stand."

It shows the democratic organization is attempting to keep its pledges to the people. Perhaps if the organization had taken hold of the silver question in a systematic manner, instead of stragglers attempting to shape legislation in this congress, something might have been accomplished. No, I don't think it means coercion of members at all. I think it does mean the strongest kind of persuasion."

Representative Pierre, of Tennessee, said: "I think the letter, an infamous document, is the work of a few doctoing members of congress, of which I believe is Mr. Cleveland, just as I believe he was back of the recent editorial saying members who voted for free coinage would find the administration fighting them in their districts."

"Well," said Mr. Watson, the populist leader from Georgia, "I have not read the letter, but it looks to me as though Mr. Cleveland was snapping the whip over 'the boys.' It appears to me that Mr. Cleveland is attempting to build up a Wall-street aristocracy."

Mr. Ous, of Illinois, also a people's party representative, looked upon the letter as a codicil, and entirely intended for effort to secure a premature declination of opinion from men who would be called upon to vote upon the question.

Mr. Springer, of Illinois, chairman of the committee on ways and means, said: "Of course the letter is all right. Mr. Harrity was merely seeking for information. The letter was a confidential one, and I don't understand how it happened to be published, but there is nothing in it to be published."

"It will not take well with the western democrats. They will not be dictated to by Mr. Harrity," was Jerry Simpson's comment.

"I have not read the letter, but the national committee has nothing to do with the matter," said Representative Wilson, of West Virginia.

In speaking of the entire cabinet,

FRIDAY EVE., FEB. 24, 1893.

It was Robert L. Walker who ruined McKinley in 1888, and it was Robert J. Walker who deceived and ruined the people in 1846. They are a bad pair of Robert Walkers.

CLEVELAND, having failed to control the Democrats in the present congress and direct them according to his notion on the silver question, the national Democratic committee has undertaken the job of directing the Democrats in the next congress along the silver line.

A log cabin in miniature was placed on the desk of William Lindsay, United States senator from Kentucky to succeed Carlisle, when he visited the senate. This was very appropriate and suggestive, for it is any one thing that the Democratic party is disposed to travel in the direction of more than another it is backward toward the days of the log cabin.

A suit of old-fashioned Confederate jeans is being made, at his own request, for Senator Blackburn of Kentucky, to be worn at Cleveland's inauguration. The Mississippi woolen mills are manufacturing a special piece of jeans from which the suit will be made, regardless of cost. The senator ought to carry a Confederate flag to distinguish his livery. Everybody is expected to forget the war except those who brought it upon the people.

The declaration of Senator Voorhees that President Harrison's foreign policy would pass into history and challenge the admiration of the world, is one of the highest compliments ever paid to an outgoing President, and it ought to serve as a notice to the "small fry" and professional politicians who have been hounding the President, that he will live in history long after they are forgotten, no matter to what office they may, in the future, give the full measure of their abilities.

Gen. Abner Doubleday, who died a few weeks ago, was the last of the famous Union garrison that defended Sumter against the attack of the Confederates April 12, 1861, directed by Gen. Beauregard, who was buried to-day. General Abner Doubleday's casket was draped with the American flag, while that of Beauregard was draped with the American flag and the Confederate flag. The former was loyal to one flag, while the latter in his death is ascribed as being loyal to two flags, which represent principles the direct opposite of each other.

CONGRESSMAN Post, of the Tenth district, has written to the American Economist that the real test of the protective system before the people of the United States has yet to come. To denounce and vilify means nothing, even if such clamor secures apparent approval. The supreme test will remain and will come when the Democratic talk stops and action begins, when free trade theories are written in revenue laws. The effect upon the industries of the country, Gen. Post well observes, will be the test. The friends of American industries will carefully note and make known the effect of the change of policy, being willing that the test shall be made but determined that the responsibility shall fall where it belongs.

There are some people who would rather see a public man in trouble than get him prosperous. The bias of people are getting off some very smart things at the expense of Major McKinley, now that he has suffered a misfortune. They are saying that he trusted too much to the possibilities of the industry and was caught. The only foundations for these suggestions is the fact that his friend Walker, who was a banker, had some stock in a stamping works, which has no relation to a tin mill where tin is manufactured. The stamping works did not injure Walker, and Walker's failure has not injured the stamping works. Walker betrayed the confidence McKinley had in him. The applications these ghouls are making of the tariff on tin plate to the unfortunate circumstances confronting McKinley, are as irrelevant as it would be to undertake to assume that the conduct of the Walker is parallel to that of the Walker who formulated the free trade tariff of 1846, which brought ruin to the country, after he and promised the voters of the country that they would not disturb the tariff of 1842. Both these Walkers betrayed the confidence reposed in them.

The Spring Elections The time for the spring elections in this county is fast approaching and the nearer we come to them, the more apparent it becomes that the Democratic leaders have determined upon making every possible effort to carry both the township and the city. In view of the fact that these same Democrats year after year have been advocating non-partisan elections it becomes very plain that the position they then assumed was purely an expediency calculated in their judgment to strengthen the Democratic party with the view of ultimately succeeding to power as Democrats. The Republicans from time to time warned the Republicans of this danger and counseled them not to permit themselves to be deceived by these by play.

Encouraged by their success at the polls last fall these Democratic leaders have decided that this is the time to strike for control of township and city affairs with a view of turning the county to that party by the power they could, with Democratic offices in the city, held in the city. Should they gain control of the city these formerly modest non-partisans would build up a strong organization upon the Tammany plan that would be hard to overthrow. It is easier to defeat the plan at the polls this spring than it would be to defeat the organization after it had once been formed. In view of these facts the duty of Republicans is plain and calls for their best efforts and their best judgment. The Democrats expect to succeed in the spring elections by the same method which served the Democrats so well in the state last fall. They expect to appeal to every prejudice that offers them an opportunity for success, just as they did last fall, and already their emissaries are invading and faring every which way to promises any harvest by sowing seed to prejudice. They have already gone so far as to take representatives of the fields they are working to Springfield, where they have been given promises by the Democratic governors that in case the spring elections result favorably to the Democratic party, he will bring about certain things they desire—promises that will never be kept, because they cannot be, unless the constitution is changed. In this and in many other ways they expect to prey upon the ignorance and prejudice of the people to gain control. That these deceptions are being practiced upon the unsuspecting there is not a shadow of doubt and Republicans will have to meet this hypothetical sort of campaigning by impressing upon those who left in the hands of these people, will be deceived and used as tools to pull Democratic chautauks out of the fire, and after having been so used will be kicked aside just as the Democratic party leaders after using them are now kicking aside those who favor the free coinage of silver and the anti-silver bill and the bill to protect the lives and limbs of railway employees. Every Republican in this township should put on his fighting garments, go to work and defeat these designing politicians who are hoping to succeed by fooling other people.

TO STOP THE PROGRESS OF Consumption, you will find one guaranteed remedy—Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

In advanced cases, it brings comfort and relief; if you haven't delayed too long, it will certainly cure. It doesn't claim too much. It won't make new lungs—nothing can; but it will make diseased ones sound and healthy, when everything else has failed.

The scrupulous affection of the lungs that's caused Consumption, like every other form of Scrofula, and every blood taint and disorder, yields to the "Discovery." It is the most effective blood-cleaner, strength-restorer, and flesh-builder known to medical science. In all Bronchial, Throat and Lung Affectations, if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

It was expected that Harriet Dawson is Big Hat, who had pleaded guilty to running a lèse-majesté, and had been fined by the court, would be released from custody this forenoon. Executions had been issued and returned no property found.

This fact was reported to Judge Vail in open court in the presence of the defendant. There had been an agreement between the State's Attorney Mills and Attorney J. M. Gray who appeared for the woman; but at the last moment Mr. Mills objected, and Judge Vail said the defendant would have to go to jail and stay there during the lifetime of the execution, 90 days. There was a misunderstanding as to the verbal agreement between the two attorneys. The woman made no objection, but Attorney Gray did. All the same Harriet went off to jail with relatives.
